

If you want to know what information the IPLOS Register holds about you

When you apply for or receive health and care services from the Municipality, it's vital that those who will be providing you with the assistance you need know enough about your needs. This is the only way the Municipality can offer you services that will benefit you according to your needs.

Some of the information the Municipality asks you about will be registered in the IPLOS Register. This is a national health register which in a standardised manner describes the requirements of those that apply for or are receiving health or care services from the municipalities and also what services the municipalities provide.

You have the right to know that the Municipality supplies this type of information to the register. You also have the right to know what information about you personally has been submitted. If the information is incorrect, you have the right to have this changed. You also have the right to know what security measures are in place when the information in the register is being processed or used.

Your name and address are not in the register. Your social security number (personnummer) has been replaced by a randomly allocated number, making it impossible for others to find information about you and your identity.

If you wish to find out exactly what has been registered about you, we kindly request that you complete the form on the reverse.

As the register does not know your identity, routines have been developed that ensure that your identity remains confidential and unknown in the IPLOS Register, including when you request insight into your personal information.

You must send the completed form to the unit that is providing you with services or the unit that has allocated services to you in your Municipality or Borough.

Parents or guardians can have the right to insight on behalf of minors or those who are legally incapacitated.

The brochure entitled "Information about health and care services in the Municipal Patient and User Registry, From IPLOS to MPUR" provides more information about the IPLOS register.

This brochure is available from the Municipality.

You can read more about your right to insight in the IPLOS Regulations and The Personal Health Data Filing System Act. You will find these at www.lovdato.nol if you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the Norwegian Directorate of Health, Tel. 810 20 050 or e-mail to iplos@helsedir.no
